PREVENTING ROADBLOCKS

To reduce the time invested into resolving roadblocks, it's wise to invest time into preventing them. To do this, you could try pathway planning with your team.

To begin pathway planning, write down a goal/target/project that you want to achieve:

Goal/target/project:

Next, list 3 potential obstacles/roadblocks you might face:

Obstacles/roadblocks:

Finally, come up with a strategy to overcome each obstacle:

Strategies:

By doing this at the start of a project, you will be prepared to enact a contingency strategy if any of these roadblocks occur. This will help you try different things and know when to push forward or when to hold off.